HAVE A HOBBY
GROW SOME GLADS

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS

THE following is prepared for the benefit of the novice: We believe Gladiolus will do well in any soil that will produce a good crop of corn or potatoes. A fertile soil will undoubtedly give better results in size of bloom, and also produce a larger bulb. A little extra care in cultivation and fertilization will amply repay you. DO NOT USE fresh manure before planting bulbs. Manure should be applied in the Fall. Very scabby bulbs will be the result of fresh manure.

DEPTH TO PLANT

We would suggest planting bulbs from four to five inches deep. Don't guess, but measure the depth. A bulb will grow as well planted much shallower, but bulbs planted deep are protected from falling over, which often occurs with tall growing varieties.

THE HOME BEAUTIFUL

We know of no other tree or shrub that is so satisfactory in beautifying the home as the many different types of Evergreens. They give a note of cheer to the landscape no other plant can equal, and add a friendly aspect to the surroundings. When you make your planting you have the assurance that your home is growing in value each year, and add a beauty and dignity no other can compare.

There are Evergreens to fit any locations, some tall and extremely pyramidal in form, others flat, like a mat, some growing in semi-prostrate shape, and range in color from very dark to light green. Other varieties turn to plum or purple in the winter, and others are gold tipped on green foliage, and still others are blue-gray with variations of these colors.

No rock garden is complete without dwarf Evergreens intermingling with types of Alpine and Rock Plants and we are making an effort to build a representative Rock Garden, and Lily-Pool and cordially invite our many "Glad" friends, and their friends to visit us at any time.

To any one who may be interested in Evergreens, Perennials, or Rock Garden Plants, kindly advise us and price list will be mailed to you about August 1st.
